DISCLAIMER FOR TESTING PERFORMED BY CARDINAL CG COMPANY

Cardinal CG Company (“Cardinal CG”) is a supplier of coated glass. Cardinal CG offers testing as a courtesy to its customers. Nothing in the test report provides any representation or warranty, including, but not limited to, the test Results and Conclusion. The customer bears sole responsibility for making its own determination as to the suitability of Cardinal CG’s products for the customer’s own particular purpose. It is the customer’s responsibility to perform tests and analyses sufficient to assure it that its finished product will be safe and suitable for use under end-use conditions.

By way of further explanation, and not limitation: 1) Cardinal CG does not make any representations or warranties regarding the compatibility or suitability of the tested material, and shall not be liable in any respect should incompatibility occur; 2) the testing does not provide information, representations, or warranties relating to the design of the customer’s end product, the manufacturing process for the end product, including variability in that process, other components in the glazing system, variability in the formulation of the tested material, misuse of the product by the customer or the end user, or future changes to the tested material or the manufacturing process; 3) Cardinal CG has not tested any materials that are not identified by the customer for testing; and 4) Cardinal CG will not be liable in any way for the results of testing Cardinal CG performs relating to field failure analysis.

All Cardinal CG products are sold subject to Cardinal CG’s applicable Terms and Conditions of Sale which can be found at www.cardinalcorp.com.
